Got What He Deserved

The New Mexico Bar association did right in retiring R. H. Hanna of Santa Fe from the office of secretary last Friday if for no other reason than to protect the association from the stigma of allowing a helpless man to be denounced when he was not only unable to be present but equally unable to resent the foulest kind of insults by personal force. The Citizen has but little to say regarding the speech by Mr. Hanna in which he denounced Colonel Max Frost, editor of the Santa Fe New Mexican. The Citizen can say all it has to say in mighty few words.

In the first place common decency on the part of Mr. Hanna; common Christian charity would have made him remain silent had every word he uttered been the truth. But the Citizen does not believe one word of that speech. The Bar association indicated by its vote just what it thought and the many people in all portions of New Mexico who have known Colonel Frost for over thirty years and long before R. H. Hanna came to New Mexico, will denounce such charges as were made by the Santa Fe attorney.

The members of the Bar association voted almost to a man against R. H. Hanna. Many of them were personally, politically and otherwise opposed to Colonel Frost, but their sense of honor and of decency would not allow them to endorse by their votes, a man of Hanna's stripe.

The Citizen can not understand the sort of a man who would attempt to get up in front of an intelligent set of men, such as the Bar association, and expect to secure sympathy or support by such a cowardly attack on an absent member.

Either R. H. Hanna is a very young man who has much—very much—to learn or he completely lost self control and threw discretion to the wind. At all events, the Bar association by its vote, saved its reputation for honesty and decency. R. H. Hanna was the loser—not Colonel Frost.

The only mistake the veteran editor made, was in giving so much space in his paper in reply to an enemy unworthy of his steel. Colonel Frost has lived for over thirty years in New Mexico; he has done more, perhaps, than any one man to bring immigration to this territory and he has worked faithfully and conscientiously for the upbuilding of New Mexico, at times when even the most sanguine were disposed to be faint hearted.

The Citizen does not believe in pushing over any man. Every one has his faults and the man in this day who would wear a halo, generally dies young.

A man's private life is a thing for himself and his God to settle. It must be a really man indeed who essays to do the holier than thou stunt with his neighbor.

Colonel Frost has lived a goodly portion of his life perhaps—perhaps he has not. A man's life is not measured by years always. He is one of the most prominent men in New Mexico today, as he has been for years. Despite the fact of infirmities which would retire an ordinary man, Colonel Frost is still in the harness and a strong factor in the development of this territory.

The attack by Mr. Hanna, coming as it did at the time and place, is not pleasing to intelligent men.

Colonel Frost treated the matter in his usual vigorous way and he does not cast about for diplomatic words. The Citizen can present no better key to the astounding speech of R. H. Hanna than the editorial of Colonel Frost which was published in Monday's New Mexican. It is as follows:

"In dismissing one R. H. Hanna as secretary of the Territorial Bar association by a vote of five-sixths majority at the election of officers of that body last Friday, the association did the right thing at the right time, and sent into well merited obscurity a man who should not be allowed to remain upon its rolls. It is an unfortunate fact that the editor of this paper was primarily responsible for the selection of this man to the position. When the late attorney general, Edward L. Bartlett, who had been secretary of the Bar association for fifteen years and who was a gentleman in every sense of the word, an attorney of worth and probity, a lawyer of ability and learning, joined the silent majority in 1904, this editor then and there, believing that this Hanna possessed qualifications for the position of secretary, requested the then president, William C. Wrigley, to appoint this fellow to the position. This was done. This editor has made it a practice all his life to help young men who he thought were deserving, and, while in some cases, as in this, he has been repaid by the dirtiest of ingratitude, and by the most dirty slanders, as a rule his efforts have been appreciated. At the next meeting of the Bar association this editor asked several friends to vote for this Hanna and keep him in office.

"During the last twelve months this individual has taken umbrage at political and business actions of the editor of this paper. He has taken occasion to circulate slanders, absolutely baseless and groundless, and to secure publications in for sale yellow sheets that were detrimental to the personal and political character of this editor. He knew that this editor had no chance to defend himself physically, and that the columns of this newspaper would not be used for that purpose, unless it became absolutely necessary for self defense. This point has now arrived. This fellow, in a lengthy speech before the Bar association, assailed the writer in a most cowardly, dirty and venomous manner. His speech was full of malicious falsehoods and deliberate lies. He was supported in this by one W. C. Reid, ex-attorney general under the late imbecile fake reform administration, also a man who had only received up to the time he accepted office under that regime, simply kindness and consideration and benefits from this writer. Two other votes were cast for Hanna in addition to his own and Reid's for re-election as secretary, so the New Mexican is informed and an apology was made afterwards for one of these votes. The result, however, shows how the members of the Bar association by a practically unanimous vote looked upon the question and the editor of this paper. The result is very gratifying to this writer, and he certainly feels very grateful and is thoroughly appreciative of the true spirit of manliness, fairness and justice shown by the members of the association who voted to vindicate his character as a member of the bar and of their association as a citizen and as a man from the foul, cowardly and cruel aspersions and slanders uttered by the defeated candidate for the secretaryship who desired this as a vindication and as an approval of his cowardly, malicious and infamous conduct. Right here it is proper to say that it is not often that the editor of the New Mexican appears in the columns of this paper in personal defense. He has lived in this territory thirty years, and he has not changed what has happened. There is no use denying that he is among the best known men in the territory. That he has enemies, to be sure, but also that he has friends, who have watched his conduct during this almost one-third of a century, every day of which he has been more or less in the public eye. Therefore and in order to do justice to his friends and himself he publishes this account of the affair. Nothing would have been said in these columns concerning it had this Hanna not himself made it public. Now it has become a legitimate subject of discussion in this paper.

"It has come to the knowledge of this newspaper that this man Hanna has been engaged in writing communications to government officials making grave charges against federal and territorial officials, and citizens generally. To be sure, these, so the New Mexican understands, are only general in character, but they were intended and calculated to work to the injury and detriment of the people of this commonwealth in general and of the officials and citizens attacked in particular. This matter will be taken up in due course of time and will be thoroughly investigated. There are others in the same category, some of them citizens of New Mexico, and one of them a resident of New York, who is connected with the water supply company of this city. These matters will be shown up to the people that they may know where some of the evil name and foul reputation said to be attached to the people of this territory in the east and in high administrative circles comes from. It is a long lane that has no turn, and the turn is in sight."

The appointment was made at a meeting of the commissioners held yesterday afternoon. Mr. Keller is a worthy young man.

About thirty colored people of this city enjoyed a delightful picnic at Whitcomb last Sunday as the guests of Messrs. Bramlett and Coleman. The party left Albuquerque early in the morning in a carnival and after spending the day in the mountains, returned to the city late at night. The only thing that marred their fun was the rain.

Train No. 10, due in Albuquerque at 6:30 this morning, had not arrived at 4:30 this afternoon and after the late hour the officials at the local station could give no definite information as to when the train might be expected. The cause of the delay is reported to be a washout intended at El Paso and Las Cruces, where the Rio Grande united with some arroyos flushed by recent rains.

Dan Padilla, manager of the Barajas Grays, today accepted a challenge from the Socorro Blues to play at the Gem City on Labor day, providing that the Blues would play a return game here as soon as the Traction park grounds can be secured. The Grays defeated the fast Madrid team last Sunday by a score of 3 to 1, and are no their mettle. The Socorro team and the Grays in a game ought to furnish some pretty good sport.

Thos. McMillin, chief of police, received a call over the telephone last yesterday afternoon to hurry up to some adobe buildings on West Tijeras avenue, Henry Brown, colored was about to shoot his wife with a shot gun. The chief jumped into the city patrol and made a fast run to the Brown residence. Rushing into the house expecting to find that maybe he was too late, the chief was dumfounded at what he saw. The bad Mrs. Brown was lying on the bed sound asleep, hugging a shot gun tight in his arms. The woman, ever, was really frightened. She told the officer that Brown had picked up a stone and told her if she didn't come to him, he would kill her. She ran.

FIST FIGHT IN FRONT OF POSTOFFICE

John Aich, a railroad employee, and C. W. Mason, of the Savoy hotel, were arraigned before Police Judge Craig this morning on the charge of fighting on the street. It was brought out in the testimony that while carrying some packages of provisions on Second street near Silver avenue, Mason was assaulted by Aich and that Mason dropped his bundles and proceeded to protect himself. A vigorous fight ensued which was witnessed by a large crowd of people. Aich claimed that Mason had been lying about him which was the reason he attacked him, but Mason protested that he did not know the man. Aich was fined $25, which he paid, and Mason was discharged.

Mason is also reported to have gotten the better of the fight, which took place in front of the postoffice last evening about 5:30 o'clock.

Las Vegas, N. M., August 27.—When Morris Bender, of the Bacharach Bros., one of the largest general merchandise firms of this city, started to enter the store last night after closing time in order to go to his room in the same building, he frightened away two men who had piled up nearly $2,000 worth of silks and other valuable goods near a rear door which they had opened, and through which they evidently intended to carry the stuff to a nearby wagon. The men heard the front door open and managed to escape. They carried away goods worth about $50.
